

Communication is the Key!

Open the door to a profitable future for your company.

Employees who earn a Master's Degree in Professional Communication at Westminster College (MPC) gain experience in marketing and branding, public relations, graphic design, interactive media, technical writing, communication strategies, and so much more.

Every company needs experts.

The MPC program can give your employees the edge you need in a competitive market.

Westminster offers a broad curriculum perfectly suited to working professionals, including:

- Small classes—students have direct access to faculty for one-on-one attention
- Curriculum with practical applications—students' new skills will apply to their professional careers immediately
- Classes for professionals—students attend classes in the evening or on the weekends without interrupting their standard work day
- Technology—students learn to use the latest software, master social media, and excel in presentations with multi-media applications

Classes start <date>, enrollment begins now. Our best student could be your best employee.

To find out more about the Master of Professional Communication degree at Westminster, visit our website www.westminstercollege.edu